If the court finds that the interests of the minor do require such protection, the court will appoint counsel to represent her, whether or not she can afford counsel. The minor will not be present in court unless she requests or the court so orders.
2. If a parent of the minor appears without counsel and is unable to afford counsel, the court must appoint counsel for the parent, unless the parent knowingly and intelligently waives the right to be represented by counsel. The court will not appoint the same counsel to represent the minor and the parent.
3. The court may appoint either the public defender or private counsel. If private counsel is appointed, he or she will receive a reasonable sum for compensation and expenses, the amount of which will be determined by the court. The amount must be paid by the real parties in interest, not by the minor, in such proportions as the court believes to be just. If, however, the court finds that any of the real parties in interest cannot afford counsel, the amount will be paid by the court.
4. The court may continue the proceeding for not more than thirty (30) days as necessary for appointed counsel to become acquainted with the case.
