

A Ferry Etiquette Lesson

Scott Sheppard

I commute daily to the Autodesk office in San Francisco via ferry. The ferry terminal in Alameda (where I live) is called Gateway Alameda. It gets its name because years ago, before the Bay Bridge opened in 1936, the Southern Pacific Railroad terminated at that location. Passengers wanting to continue to San Francisco then boarded a ferry. The railroad stop was considered the gateway to San Francisco.

Today the ferry service is operated by the Blue & Gold Fleet. I normally take the 6 a.m. ferry and get to my desk by 6:30 since the San Francisco Ferry Building is just across the street from my One Market Street office. To get home, I catch the 4:30, 5:20, or 5:45 p.m. ferry. It's about a 5-minute drive from Gateway Alameda to my home.

As a ferry commuter for the past eight years, I have observed these unwritten rules. Like they said in Fast Times at Ridgemont High: "These are the rules. Learn them. Know them. Live them." Abiding by these rules ensures a pleasant commute for everyone involved.

One line

When lining up for the 6 a.m. ferry at Gateway Alameda, form one line. This early in the morning, there aren't enough people to form two parallel lines.

Quiet time

With the morning commute starting so early, some passengers are not fully awake yet. It's quiet time on the morning ride. Passengers talk quietly or listen to music with headphones.

Be ready

While waiting in line, get any Clipper Cards ready. Passengers tag their cards as they board. If boarding without a Clipper Card, board, purchase a one-way or round-trip ticket on the boat, on the first floor, near the front. A one-way fare is $6.25. With a Clipper Card, the fare is $5 each way.

Form a line

While on board, there will be a pre-recorded announcement that passengers are not to form a line and remain seated until the boat is docked. Everyone ignores that and forms a line. However, when doing so, expect those in chairs along the exit aisle to merge into the line when disembarking begins. Even though one might have been standing there long before those passengers left their seats, don't expect them to wait before disembarking when other passengers ignored the rule and formed a line.

Merge by alternating one from each line

Prior to disembarking, have Clipper Cards ready. When disembarking, there are multiple lines. As passengers approach the door, they use the merge process, alternating one person from each line. The goal is to exit as efficiently as possible.

Passengers involved in conversations should pause for a moment as it is likely that a person will come between traveling companions as part of the merge process. After leaving the ferry, regroup and continue the conversation.

While disembarking, put phones away. The exit process only takes a minute or two, so it won't take much to look up and walk in unison with the other passengers instead of plodding along slowly or bumping into the person ahead.

Tag off

For riders with Clipper Cards, just tag on and tag off. It's like using BART. This is necessary because the ferry terminals are used for a variety of destinations, and card

Subscriber Appreciation Continues

Eric J. Kos

I just can't quite resist continuing to print thank yous to our treasured subscribers and supporters this week. The outpouring of renewals and new subscriptions along with generous contributions to the Alameda Sun has now topped $8,000.

The other day we received a three-year subscription renewal from Carolyn Queener, a four-year subscription from Elizabeth McGaffey and a five-year subscription from my dear friend, founder of the Marketplace and Alameda Natural Grocery, and president of the Downtown Alameda Business Association, Donna Layburn. We also received a kind donation in addition to a subscription from Leon & Joan Buckner, Beverly Blatt & David Filipek, and James & Virginia Ostergren. Thanks so much for the wonderful support!

I also need to thank new and longtime, renewing subscribers: Doralyn Poirier, Ardhith Betts, Laura Wolz & Asa Romberger, Mary Irene Scott & Charles Scott Jr., Galiana & Emmanuel Williams, Kimberly Kay, Beverly Blatt & David Filipek, and T.E. Blackstone, Carol Smith & Robert Goolsby for their support. We appreciate each and every one of you.

In addition to their checks of support, the subscribers sent the following letters.

Editor:

You have kindly been sending free copies of the Alameda Sun to The Willows condominiums for almost as long as I've lived here. I'm a devoted regular and really depend on getting the paper every Thursday. So it's definitely time to pay up.

I'm covering the last four years with this check for 2014 through 2017. No need for any special delivery; I'm happy to get my paper off the pile in the lobby.

Alameda Sun is a wonderful source of local news. Where were those fire engines going? Who won the basketball tournament? What's going on in town? I would never be in the loop if I didn't read the Sun front to back every week.

Thanks so much for your dedication to this amazing "small town in the Bay Area" and especially for your articles on local history. Not having been born here, I have a lot to catch up on.

— Elizabeth McGaffey

Eric:

When I was the emcee of the Webster Street Jams and the Concerts at the Cove, I always made a point of announcing that "the newspaper of Alameda is the Alameda Sun." It was true then, it's even more true now.

Keep up the good work and thanks for featuring me (twice!) in the Sun Shines Everywhere.

— Will Golden

Alameda Sun:

Thanks for keeping us advised of the shenanigans: in City Hall, with Tim Lewis and with seeing that certain people get elected to the City Council.

— The Buckner & Russ families

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of John H. J. Cashman. A Petition for Probate has been filed by Marlene Daniels in the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda. The Petition for Probate requests that Marlene Daniels be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests that the decedent's wills and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held on 5/2/2017, at 9:31 a.m., in Dept. 202 at 2120 Martin Luther King, Jr. Way, 2nd Floor, Berkeley, CA 94704. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for petitioner Kathryn S. Korn, Korn Law Group 23 Altarinda Rd., Suite 215 Orinda, CA 94563 925-253-1808
