Gulls: An integral part of Island City's natural cleanup crew at work daily mussels, clams, small vertebrates such as snakes, and the eggs and chicks of other birds, including other birds nesting within the same colony.

The adult birds teach the young fledglings to open clam and muscle shells by dropping them from the air onto a hard surface to crack them open.

That's why you may see muscle shells on docks and roads near the water. Empty muscle shells litter many of the docks and large rocks around Seaplane Lagoon. western gulls will also feed on dead carcasses they find, which is why they are attracted to garbage left accessible, such as in restaurant dumpsters, and to your picnic at the beach.

Western gulls can be seen yearround in Alameda. Although many of the adults will spend a portion of the spring and summer breeding at locations outside of Alameda, younger gulls remain here. In general, western gulls are often found near water, both salt and fresh water, such as lakes within a relatively short distance from the ocean. Western Gulls are counted every year in the Golden Gate Audubon Oakland Christmas Bird Count.

Western gulls may also try to eat pieces of plastic floating in the water or littering the beach, because they feed on crabs, mussels, and small fish. If a gull can swallow the plastic, it fills the gull's stomach without providing nutrition. Too much plastic results in starvation. The various ingredients in the plastic may also poison the gull slowly.

In addition, gulls may become entangled in discarded fishing line or fishing hook, both of which can result in injuries and death. Proper disposal of fishing line and all trash provides protection for gulls and other birds found in Alameda. It also makes our beaches and shorelines more attractive and inviting. Who wants to spread their beach towel or picnic blanket on trash.

Marjorie Powell is a member of the Golden Gate Audubon Society.

Trump's attorney Sidney Powell says there were hundreds of thousands of ballots with only Biden's name on them, and that postal workers were pressured to backdate mail-in ballots. Lawsuits over these and other matters are being filed in courts around the country.

Why were Trump poll watchers systematically kept from observing the vote counting in Pennsylvania, Michigan and Wisconsin? What reason other than to hide some untoward activity?

Whether you like Trump or hate him, what is at stake is bigger than who wins. If Americans can't trust their elections, what kind of nation have we become?

Local Deaths

Ignacio M. Ramirez

May 4, 1958 - Nov. 7, 2020

Resident of Alameda

Our beloved Ignacio M. Ramirez (A.K.A. Nacho), husband, father, brother, uncle, and friend, peacefully passed away on November 7, 2020.

Born in Oakland on May 4, 1958, Ignacio is preceded in death by his parents, Consuelo and Francisco as well as his sister Marta. He is survived by his wife Ellen, children Anthony and Christina, sisters Connie and Maria, brothers: Juan, Francisco, Ruben, Marciano and Michael, and many nieces and nephews whom he all loved.

Ignacio was much loved in life and blessed with a big heart for all. He was caring and loving to his parents, sisters and brothers, his children, his nieces and nephews, and his two little dogs. He was lovingly devoted to his wife of almost 40 years, Ellen. His unconditional love and generosity for his family knew no bounds.

Ignacio began his career as an aviation mechanic at Alameda Naval Air Station and then moved on to United Airlines when the Base shut down. He finished his career as a Stationary Engineer at Kaiser Hospital Oakland, where he made many good friends.

He enjoyed his time spent with family, good times at the A's games, family trips to Hawaii, Washington D.C., Mexican Cruise, Italy, Lake Tahoe, San Luis Obispo, Solvang and many other great trips with immediate and extended family.

He built a home and family that will never forget him. His love and our memory of him will rest in our hearts forever.

The family will have a private service for Ignacio at Internment. A celebration of life will be held at a later date due to the COVID Pandemic.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests donations to be made to St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, PO Box 50, Memphis, TN, 38101-9929.
